Co-Presidents

Gamma Alpha Friends,

Well, if we would have been back to school in person, we would have been crossing our fingers and hoping for a snow day from the last snowfall of January! I was a little disappointed by the amount of snow. Those weather predictions had me ready for several more inches. Since I was already stocked up on the essentials, I enjoyed quite a nice, lazy weekend. On Sunday, I ventured out only to snowplow my driveway and make a rather impressive snow angel in the side yard. I hope you were able to enjoy some winter shenanigans as well.

My weekend was full of hot chocolate and Hallmark movies! I put away the snowmen decorations and brought out the Valentine's Day hearts, candles, and a red table cloth. I am ready for February!

Our Gamma Alpha February Happy Hour is this Wednesday, and I am looking forward to seeing you. Our January meeting had our highest turn out yet with 21 members in attendance. It was filled with stories of great vacation getaways and travel tips. I look forward to enjoying a beverage and catching up at our virtual happy hour later this week!

Amy

Professional storyteller and teacher, Deb Woodard, has been animating stories for children for over thirty years. She believes in the power of the written word and the ability of books to ignite readers' imaginations. This principle seeps into Deb's work; through her books and presentations, she encourages children to read, write, engage their imaginations, and discover their potentials. Deb is from Ionia and is the author of children's books about a family of bunnies - creating an opportunity for parents have meaningful conversations with their kids. In 2018, Deb released "Naughty Pants Believes a Lie." Since then she has written two more books about a family of rabbits who learn lessons; "Fancy Pants Finds True Beauty" in August 2019, and "Smarty Pants, Are You Listening?" in July of this year. Two more books are in the works about two other rabbit sisters Sassy Pants and Antsy Pants. Join us via zoom for an entertaining evening of storytelling from the comfort of your home.

DKG State News

Bay City State Convention

The last time we had a state convention in Bay City, the tall ship SS DKG sailed into town with Captain Dot Sample at the helm. Although we will not be resurrecting the SS DKG, planning is full speed ahead for the State Convention on April 30 - May 2, 2021 at the DoubleTree by Hilton Bay City Riverfront Hotel.

Relieve 'Pandemic Fatigue' and enjoy DoubleTree's warm chocolate chip cookies. Menus and meeting room set-up will follow our "New Norm." You will be present for the pomp when Alpha Iota's New Officers are installed at the banquet on Saturday. Amy Wright will be the state's new Corresponding Secretary. Come to support her! Join us for fellowship, sisterhood, and laughter. First VP Dr. Elena Ivanova has arranged a variety of workshops you are sure to enjoy.

Registration forms will be at the end of the newsletter!!

January 21, 2021 Zoom Meeting

Co-presidents Amy Wright and Carole Lower led our January 21 virtual meeting. The executive board met at 5:45 to complete annual report forms and discuss chapter business. The Cruising into January membership meeting started at 6:30. Jessica shared pictures of her favorite getaway, Outer Banks, NC. Lynne E. gave us some useful information about Disney Resorts. Cindy talked about "Up North." Linda C. shared the beauty of Denmark. Jackie shared some snowbird information from Ft. Pierce, FL. Lastly, Joanna took us to Nepal. (Note, Pam Sayre is missing from the above picture.)

We will be using Zoom for future meetings. Below is the info:

Gamma Alpha Zoom Meeting

January 21, 2021 Minutes

Business Meeting

The Board Members completed the DKG forms to be sent to the state. The Award of the Rose and President Awards were completed and emailed to the state president. Chapter Woman of Distinction was selected and will be announced at the Birthday Dinner. The Cherry/ Buckeye Challenge winner has not been decided yet. Cindy has not yet heard from the DKG member in Ohio. Cindy will receive the list of new members from the state treasurer. Cindy said no one has dropped from Gamma Alpha membership.

Minutes from Regular Meeting

Amy opened the meeting by welcoming everyone.

Update on Service Projects

Beverly House

Judy Morante explained how the money for the girls during Christmas was spent. She delivered Christmas gift bags to the girls and had enough money left over to buy an Air Fryer for the home. An extra $360 was left. So members discussed how to use this money. Suggestions were: Valentine gifts, Easter gift bags, manicure/pedicures for the girls, or Welcome bags. It was decided to spend the money on Welcome bags. Suggestions: Toiletries, Bath kits, Hand cream, Towels and Wash Clothes. Margie and Judy will do the shopping.

Seedlings Project

Judi Fisher discussed our contribution to the Seedlings' Adopt a Reader Project. We adopted a 3 year-old boy and he used $100.00 for his books. There may be a Bowling for Braille fundraiser in the future.

21 members signed on Zoom for this meeting. Carole Lower discussed efforts being made to reach members who do not attend Zoom meetings. Lynne Elsesser and Linda Clark attempted to contact missing members. Amy suggested to tell some members to connect by phone if they didn't have a computer. Jackie suggested that she write a letter to members (snail mail) who haven't been attending with explicit directions to help them connect with Zoom.

Program: Cruising Through January

This was such an informative and delightful discussion about trips our members have taken! Jessica Walker explained why she loved visiting the Outer Banks every year. She showed absolutely beautiful pictures of the Ocean and landscape, and explained that spending time in nature gave her a sense of peace.

Lynne Elsesser visited Disney World and explained the benefits one receives in buying a Disney Pass. It is beneficial to belong to Vacation Club which entitles members to stay at Disney Resorts. She said that Disney Springs has many free shops. She gave great advice to those who haven't been to Disney World recently.

Cindy Dietz went to Northern Michigan. She saw many beautiful trees which were covered with snow. She explained that there are great wine and hard cider tasting sites as well as Casinos to visit. Carole Lower also mentioned that having a Winter Bonfire is an enjoyable experience.

Linda Clark showed souvenirs of her trip to Denmark: A picture of a Windmill and other collectible items. Denmark is a lovely place to visit.

Jackie Smart talked about her extended two month stay in Florida. She and her husband are renting a condo at Ocean Village in Ft. Pierce in overlooking the Atlantic Ocean. The seafood is wonderful and there are plenty of activities in which to participate such as golf, bocce ball, tennis, shuffleboard as well as other games.

Joanna Eiwen shared her pictures of Nepal with our group. The scenery was very beautiful, but one needs to watch out for the monsoons! Joanna's sister is a doctor in Nepal. This was a fascinating report because many will rarely have the opportunity to see Nepal as a local.

The meeting was adjourned and members were invited to continue visiting on Zoom.

RECIPE OF THE MONTH

Key Lime Pie

Made with ordinary limes, this “Key lime” pie tastes every bit as authentic as the real deal — plus it’s easier to make.

Servings: 8 to 10

Prep Time: 20 Minutes

Cook Time: 25 Minutes

Total Time: 45 Minutes, plus at least 3 hours to chill

INGREDIENTS

FOR THE CRUST

- 1-1/2 cups finely crushed graham cracker crumbs, about 12 whole graham crackers
- 1/3 cup packed light brown sugar
- 4 tablespoons unsalted butter, melted

FOR THE FILLING

- Two 14-oz cans sweetened condensed milk
- 1 cup plain Greek yogurt (2% or whole milk)
- 1 tablespoon grated lime zest
- 3/4 cup fresh lime juice

FOR THE TOPPING

- 1 cup cold heavy cream
- 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
- 1 teaspoon grated lime zest
- 8 to 10 thin lime slices

INSTRUCTIONS

FOR THE CRUST

1. Preheat oven to 375 °F and set an oven rack in the middle position.
2. In a medium bowl, combine the graham cracker crumbs, brown sugar, and melted butter; stir with a fork first, and then your hands until the mixture is well combined. Using your fingers and the bottom of a glass or dry measuring cup, press the crumbs firmly into the bottom and up the sides of a 9 x 1.5-inch pie pan. The crust should be about ¼-inch thick. (Tip: do the sides first.)
3. Bake for 10 minutes, until just slightly browned. Let the crust cool on a wire rack

FOR THE FILLING

1. Lower the oven temperature to 350°F.
2. In a large bowl, whisk together the sweetened condensed milk, yogurt, lime zest, and lime juice.
3. Pour the thick mixture into the warm graham cracker crust.
4. Bake for 15 minutes, until the filling is almost set; it should wobble a bit.
5. Let cool at room temperature for 30 minutes, then place in the refrigerator to chill thoroughly, about 3 hours.

FOR THE TOPPING

1. In the bowl of an electric mixer, beat the heavy cream until soft peaks form. Add the confectioners' sugar and beat until medium peaks form.
2. Top the pie with the whipped cream.
3. Decorate with the lime zest and lime slices.
4. Store the pie in the refrigerator until ready to serve.
5. Slice the pie into wedges, wiping your knife clean between slices, and serve cold.

BOOK SHELF

The Graveyard Book

By Neil Gaiman

While in Florida, I listened to a children's book that won the Newberry Award for the most distinguished contribution to children's literature.

The story opens with a pretty terrifying situation: a man has slaughtered a family in the middle of the night, all save a toddler who escapes unnoticed, walking out the front door and away from the mayhem. (Don't worry about the violence. The action isn't described.)

Up the hill trots the toddler, to a graveyard full of ghosts who take him in. The tone shifts elegantly from horror to suspense to domesticity, and by the end of the first chapter Gaiman has established the graveyard as the story's center. Within its reassuringly locked gates, the boy finds a safe and cozy place to grow up. (Gaiman has said that "The Jungle Book" was one of his influences.)

Nobody Owens, known to his friends as Bod, is a perfectly normal boy. Well, he would be perfectly normal if he didn't live in a graveyard, being raised and educated by ghosts, with a solitary guardian who belongs to neither the world of the living nor the world of the dead.

Among the dead are teachers, workers, wealthy prigs, romantics, pragmatists and even a few children - a village ready to raise a living child. And they do, ably led by Silas, an enigmatic character who is not really one of them, being not quite dead and not quite living. In this moonlit place, the boy - who is given the name Nobody Owens, or Bod for short, has adventures, makes friends (not all of them dead), and begins to learn about his past and consider his future.

While "The Graveyard Book" will entertain people of all ages, it's especially a tale for children in grades four and five.

The audio Graveyard Book was beautifully performed by a full cast of English actors. I thoroughly enjoyed listening to this book.

A Recap of 2020 in the Life of a Teacher

It's hard to believe just how much has happened to teachers over the last year. This past year has been one for the books. Let's take a look back at where teachers were at the beginning of the 2020 and how they got to where they are now.

January – Teachers were all excited about the New Year, the new decade, 2020. It was a much simpler time. They were all so young and foolish. Watching the ball drop as the year changed over in 2020, there was no way of knowing what portal to hell they were clearly opening.

February – On top of being flu season, they find out there's now another virus starting to spread around the world. They didn't need the CDC to tell us that washing hands and disinfecting is critical. Teachers have been preventing the spread of viruses for years. Why do you think they go through so many bottles of hand sanitizer and Lysol spray every year? Schools are germ factories!

March – The “extended spring break” turned into a whole new world of hurt. For one brief moment, teachers thought an extra week or two of spring break would be awesome. Who doesn't need an extra break around March? Although no travel vacations were allowed or eating out at your favorite restaurant .

April – By the time April rolled around, normal had flown out the window. Normal packed its bags, hopped on a spaceship, and flew to a distant planet never to be seen again. Suddenly classroom teachers had to magically learn how to teach virtually. Teachers were trying to teach children who were home driving their parents crazy. Many were homeschooling their own children while teaching remotely. It was sheer insanity! Teachers turned shower walls into whiteboards, phones wedged between cans of soup became document cameras, and no one really knew what the heck was going on.

May – This was when teachers were treated like royalty and heroes. Amidst the chaos of virtual schooling, there was a brief, fleeting period of time where parents suddenly realized that teachers do a lot for their children. It took a global pandemic, but suddenly teachers were being lauded, praised, and honored for all the hard work they do each and every day.

June – This was when the most challenging school year finally came to an end! Every teacher looks forward to summer, but this year they had earned it like never before. They looked forward to sleeping and social distancing from their computers.

July – Teachers went from being hardworking heroes to lazy babysitters almost overnight. As summer progressed a weird thing happened. This whole pandemic thing didn't go away. In fact, in a lot of places it got worse... a lot worse. All of a sudden teachers were faced with having to return to school when many thought it wasn't safe to do so. What do they do? What's the plan? Turns out there wasn't really much of a plan except for having school district officials and politicians yelling at each other, while parents all decided it was time to go back to treating teachers like crap. Yep, teachers went from revered professionals to lazy good-for-nothings in two short months. All because they had the nerve to say they didn't want to die

August – Teachers started coming back to school and realized what a mess this year was going to be. As the summer progressed it was pretty obvious no one had any idea what was going to happen when schools reopened. So officials started throwing ideas into a blender, pressing the “frappe” button and pouring it on teachers’ heads, which was a gigantic disaster. Teaching in person? Teaching virtually? Teaching both at the same time? Who knows?

September – The literal floating dumpster fire happened in September. Schools reopened and no one really had a clue as to what was going on and how anything was going to work. Some teachers had to figure out how to teach a classroom full of students AND run a zoom classroom at the same time.

October – The universe tried to break teachers in October. They were still getting used to hybrid schedules, remote teaching, and social distancing. There were daily policy changes and a constant shuffling of students.

November – November started with a huge election that dragged on (and on). They survived Friday the 13th (extra terrifying in 2020) and started counting down the days to Thanksgiving break. Then they spent the week off becoming one with the couch and catching up on Netflix, too exhausted from the first months of the school year to do anything else. I think most teachers slept through Thanksgiving break!

December – Teachers had big mixed feelings about the holidays. There was a sense of relief in knowing 2020 was coming to an end. They had survived the year! They can get through just about anything!

Where does it go from here? One would think 2021 could only get better. I mean it's hard to imagine things getting any worse. Then again... didn't we just say that a few months ago?
