The G.A.B. "Let's Talk"

President's Message

"Over the river and through the woods..." So goes the old Thanksgiving song. I don't think I can recall any other songs written for Thanksgiving but the holiday itself is well-celebrated and enjoyed by many. With all the turkeys, and cranberries, pumpkin pies, and so many other traditional foods; we Americans maintain a pattern of celebration and gratitude. Of course, for many of us Thanksgiving means a beginning of that long run to the biggest of holidays, Christmas.

The newspapers have ads for everything:

- Toys to tools
- Blackberries to Strawberry Shortcakes
- Remote control cars to remote starters for cars.

Beginning with Thanksgiving, we will hear many songs about the holidays. Most of them are traditional and are familiar to us. We probably sing along much of the time even if no one can hear us. Thank goodness! The holiday season is for many of us an extended time of giving thanks. We are grateful that we live in a time and a place where we can openly celebrate our holidays, our relative prosperity, our religious freedom and our many other freedoms.

We love to give gifts! We have the opportunity this month to share our good fortune with others by supporting the annual Gamma Alpha Holiday Auction. This is the one occasion where we can have a lot of fun and know that the money we spend will be used to help someone complete her education, whether it is for an undergraduate or a graduate degree. I must admit that the auction is one of my favorite Gamma Alpha activities every year. This year's auction will be held at Laurel Manor and I look forward to seeing there. Be prepared for some high spirits and some spirited bidding. We will have fun. We will enjoy each other's company. We will help future women educators. Then we can get started on our caroling with "Sleigh Ride," "Jingle Bells," "Silent Night," and "O, Holy Night". I promise to sing quietly.

So says the prez!

Speaker: Kids 4 Afghan Kids Update

Teaching students about diversity and the world around them can be a difficult task for educators. Northville teacher, Khris Nedam, and her sixth grade students took a unique approach in learning about Afghanistan. Her students discovered that the country had suffered a long drought, economic disruption due to the Soviet Union invasion, the Taliban rule, and the recent war. Students learned that children in many rural parts of Afghanistan had not had a school or access to a doctor in over 20 years. After understanding the hardships of Afghan children, Mrs. Nedam's students decided to be proactive and Kids 4 Afghan Kids was born. Under the guidance of their teacher, the students raised money and witnessed, via videotapes, internet and cell phones, the construction of a six-room school, a medical clinic, an orphanage, a bakery/kitchen, a guest house and community well for the residents of Wonkhai Valley, a mountainous area 3 hours southwest of Kabul. Come and be inspired by this unique and ongoing Social Studies project. Khri presented this session at the State Convention and for us last year. This is a review and update of the project. SBCEU

Mensa Musings

The Washington Post's Mensa Invitational once again invited readers to take any word from the dictionary, alter it by adding, subtracting, or changing one letter, and supply a new definition. Here are the winners:

Cashtration: The act of buying a house, which renders the subject financially impotent for an indefinite period of time.

Intaxication: Euphoria at getting a tax refund, which lasts until you realize it was your money to start with.

Reintarnation: Coming back to life as a hillbilly.

Bozone: The substance surrounding stupid people that stops bright ideas from penetrating. The bozone layer, unfortunately, shows little sign of breaking down in the near future.

Giraffiti: Vandalism spray-painted very, very high.

Sarchasm: The gulf between the author of sarcastic wit and the person who doesn't get it.

Inoculatte: To take coffee intravenously when you are running late.

Karmageddon: its like, when everybody is sending off all these really bad vibes, right? And then, like, the Earth explodes and it's like, a serious bummer.

Decafalon: The grueling event of getting through the day consuming only things that are good for you.

Glibido: All talk and no action.

Dopeler Effect: The tendency of stupid ideas to seem smarter when they come at you rapidly.

Arachnoleptic Fit: The frantic dance performed just after you've accidentally walked through a spider web.

Beelzebug: Satan in the form of a mosquito, that gets into your bedroom at three in the morning and cannot be cast out.

Caterpallor: The color you turn after finding half a worm in the fruit you're eating.

Why Shoes?

By Sandra Bull Smith

DKG celebrated the Shoe-in Challenge in Spokane – a way to gain, retain and diversify our membership. The more we found out about the mission of TOMS, the more we wanted to be a part of what they do. Our affiliation with TOMS Shoes developed from our respect for the TOMS story and the realization that we have shared goals including helping to make children’s lives better around the world. Did you know that many children in developing countries grow up barefoot? Whether at play, doing chores or going to school, these children are at risk:

- A leading cause of disease in developing countries is soil-transmitted diseases, which can penetrate the skin through bare feet. Wearing shoes can help prevent these diseases, and the long-term physical and cognitive harm they cause.
- Wearing shoes also prevents feet from getting cuts and sores. Not only are these injuries painful; but they also are dangerous when wounds become infected.
- Many times children can’t attend school barefoot because shoes are a required part of their uniform. If they don’t have shoes, they don’t go to school. If they don’t receive an education, they don’t have the opportunity to realize their potential.

The TOMS Story

In 2006, American traveler Blake Mycoskie befriended children in Argentina and found they had no shoes to protect their feet. Wanting to help, he created TOMS Shoes, a company that would match every pair of shoes purchased with a pair of new shoes given to a child in need. One For One. Blake returned to Argentina with a group of family, friends and staff later that year with 10,000 pairs of shoes made possible by TOMS customers. As of September 2010, TOMS has given over one million pairs of new shoes to children in need through giving partners around the world. Be a part of One for One! Make a difference in the life of a child! When you order shoes from the TOMS web site (www.toms.com) enter the code DKGSI in the discount code box. You will receive a wonderful pair of casual shoes, and a needy child somewhere in a developing country will also receive a pair. In addition, the Educational Foundation will receive a percentage of the sale to be used in their funding of projects. One For One!

World Fellowships Fund

One of Delta Kappa Gamma’s philanthropic programs is the World Fellowships Fund. It was organized in 1946 to help women in war torn countries. It is now designated for women of third world countries where we do not have members. The purpose is to grant fellowships to enable women to pursue advanced study in the USA and Canada. Michigan currently has a World Fellowship recipient at MSU. Magdaleen “Corne” Lotter is our recipient and grew up in a very small town in the middle of South Africa. Corne hopes to go back to South Africa and make a difference in the school system.

None of the DKG dues go to World Fellowships. Money is raised at the state level through a Silent Auction and Raffle at the state convention and fall workshops. Michigan often contributes the most to the international fund. Gamma Alpha always contributes to these events by providing a theme basket for the state convention.
